What He Thinks of America's Marvelon Growth and General Prosperity.

For some days past the famous leader of the liberal wing of the German parliament, Dr. Eduard Lasker, has been in the city, receiving the courtesies of prominent Germans residing or temporarily sojourning here. A representative of THE NATIONAL REPUBLI-CAN called upon him at his rooms, and was pleasantly received by a gentleman of rather small stature, but compactly built, apparently some 54 or 55 years oid, with grayish black, bushy hair, full beard, and a very intelligent, mobile facial expression. This was Dr. Lasker, the German liberal, who, during the memorable and constitutional struggles of the Prussian people in the reign of King William IV, the predecessor of Emperor William, had the courage to defyroyal displeasure by telling the king, in an interview between the latter and some of the Prussian representatives, that it was "the misfortune of kings that they would not hear the truth told." pleasantly received by a gentleman of rather the truth told."

Dr. Lasker has just returned from a trip through the United States, and spoke very pleasantly of the favorable impressions re-pleasantly of the favorable impressions received.

"It had been my desire for many years," he said, "to visit the United States and form my opinion of them, their condition, and their future from personal observation. But it was not until some months agothat I could carry out my leng-cherished purpose. I visited the Pacific coast, traveling over the north Pacific as far as Portland, Oreg, and through Arizons, New Mexico, and Texas.
What I have seen is far beyond anything I could have imagined, although I had read and heard much about your country. One What I have seen is far beyond anything I could have imagined, although I had read and heard much shout your country. One must travel through it to obtain anything like an adequate conception of its territorial magnitude. I am almost bewildered by the impressions recoived during the past few months. What has been a great cause of surprise and wonderment to me is the general readiness, even at the extreme borders of American civilization, to uphold judicial authority and establish an organized state of society, political and otherwise. You seem to have no mob that needs to be held down by force of arms. Everybody appears to consider it a matter of course to conform with the existing order and laws. Another source of agreeable surprise to me," continued Dr. Lasker, "was the extent of the German influence upon the general development of this country. Way down in Texas even I found entire counties settled exclusively by Germans, and so all over the west. I found them an active element in all spheres of life and aiding materially in building up the prosperity and progress of the United States."

In reply to a question what attitude he and his party were at present assuming toward the imperial government the doctor replied:

"Our position, of course, is one of opposition, as the present tendency of the imperial government is what we call reactionary. Since my solourn in this country, however, some of the advices received tend to show an inclination on the part of the government to seek a more satisfactory understanding with the liberals. We cannot support it in its present policy, however. More particularly is this true of its tariff policy which has lead to high protectionists measures."

"Is it likely that the prohibition against the imperiation of American to high protectionists measures."

"Is it likely that the prohibition against the importation of American hogs and hog products will be repealed soon?" asked the reporter.

"I hope so, but do not think it likely. The prohibition, as you know, rests upon imperial decree, not upon any legislation of the parliament. We (the liberals) protested against it as unnecessary and impolitic, and if the measure had been before parliament for ratification it would have been defeated. We were especially hostile to it because we expected that congress would resort to retalistory measures, and these in turn would lead to unifriendly legislation on Germany's part until a feeling was engendered on both sides that could only result injuriously to both countries."

"What changes may be expected in the German policy in the event of Emperor Will-iam's death?"

iam's death?"

"The general policy of the imperial government will undergo no material change," replied the distinguished visitor, "so long as Prince Bismarck remains at the helm, for, although he enjoys exceptional powers at the present time, and will continue so during the lifetime of the present emperor, his services to Germany secure him the lasting gratitude of his country; and while his powers may be of his country; and while his powers may be somewhat limited in the event of the acces-sion of the present crown prince to the throne, he will always occupy in Germany, as a man of such distinguished services to his throne, he will always occupy in Germany, as a man of such distinguished services to his nation would in any other country, much of that influence and prominence which he enjoys in his present station."

Dr. Lasker has been frequently spoken of by newspapers as a socialist, while he is not at all a radical. He represents the great German liberal party, which is quite distinct from the socialist organization and comprises all the progressive elements of the German parliament. The latter, under the law of 1868, has 297 members, an average of about 120,000 of the population of the empire to each member, although under the peculiar organization of the German empire, some of its states having a population of not more than 40,000 are represented by a member.

A grand banquet will be given in honor of the distinguished visitor under the auspices of the German club at Abner's hall to-morrow evening. Mr. Paul Schulze, president of the club, will preside, and toasts will be offered as follows: "The President of the United States," "Our Guest," responded to by Dr. Lasker; "The United States," responded to by Hon, Lorenzo Brentano, ex-member of congress; "The Congress of the United States," responded to by Hon, R. Guenther, of Wisconsin. Other toasts will be proposed after the regular order has been disposed of. A number of distinguished guests have been invited, and will be in attendance.

Europeans Use American Wine, But few persons are aware of the great amount of foreign grapes raised in New Jersey. Alfred Speer is the largest wine grower of the foreign variety in the country, and ships hundreds of eases to fill orders in Europe. His Port Grape Wine is unexcelled, and considered by physicians and chemints as the best wine to be procured.—New York Herald. For sale by druggists.

The Orphans' Concert. The concert by the children of the Protestar The concert by the children of the Protestant Orphan saylum at the home, corner of Fourteenth and 8 streets northwest, last night, was largely attended, and the programme, consisting of vocal and instrumental music and recitations, was carried out by the children of the home. The hall was artistically decorated with garlands of evergreen and bitter sweet. The handsome oil painting of Mrs. Van Ness, the founder of the home, was deeply banked around by a mass of evergreens, holly, and moss.

Visitors of the capitol, ladies shopping in the vicinity of the down-town hotels, and the public generally will find a spleudid place for refreshments at the Vienna cafe and restaurant of Mrs. Louis Spraul, No. SIS Ponnsylvania avenue northwest, where excellent drip coffee, confections, oysters, and all delicacies of the season can be had at reasonable prices. This establishment, recently opened, has been elegantly furnished, and its cozy parlors present a most inviting appearance.

A cure of Pneumonia.

Mr. D. H. Barnaby, of Owego, N. Y., says that his daughter was taken with a violent cold, which terminated with pneumonia, and all the best physicians gave the case up, and said she could not live but a few hours at most. She was in this condition when a friend recommended Dr. Wm. Hall's Balsam for the Lungs, and advised her to try it. She secepted it as a last resort, and was surprised to find that it produced is marked change for the better, and by persevering in its use a permanent cure was effected.
